In the case of the Dabeque and Sionx City Railroad Company vs. Richmond and others, from the Supreme Court of Iowa, the court argument in behalf of Mr. Rawles. In the contains the contract made between the The Free Banking System which the detendants erected an elevator at Dubuque, for the use of the company, on a stipulation that they should have the handling of all through grain at one cent per bushel, for a term of fifteen years. The company sought to avoid the contract on the ground that it was convery to public policy, to allow the defendants to be tax ga herers on the grain coming over the Mississippi at Dubuque, and in conflict with the sissippi at Dubuque, and to prevent the whole of these acts were designed to remove the training to set the whole mass of the sissippi at Dubuque, and to prevent the whole of these acts were designed to remove the training tof the sissippi at Dubuque, and to conflict with the sissippi at D States previously existing, and to prevent the creation of such trammels in the future. They were not intended, even if it were competent for Congress to authorize it, to invade the domain of private contracts, and annul all such as had been previously made on the basis of existing legislation. Mr. Justice Field delivered the opinion.

the Surrogate's office.

Another point was that Vanderworken and fixed the assessments on these estates himself. He called attention to the law under which the contract was made, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to employ ons to assist the proper officers in collecting this money which was withheld from government counsel would show that the ney of these estates on which money had been paid per contract to Sanborn, were not settled, and that some of the taxes were due The Sanborn contract, in its inception, was one of the darkest pages of American history. The charges against Tweed pales in significance beside these. Then, should in significance beaue these. Then, should the deers of the penitentiary open on one and close on the other. The people of this land are tired and sick of being robbed by their public officers, and called to justice to see that the off-inders should be punished.

Those interested in this trial were not the defendants only and the people of Brooklyn, but forty millions people were watching for the result with anxious eyes. It was new for the jury to listen to the evidence, and if they believed the defendants guilty convict they believed the defendants guilty convict them, but if innocent, acquit them.

The first witness called snd sworn was Joseph H. Robinson, assistant Solicitor of the Treasury at Washington. He testified to the proposal of agreement between William A. Richardson, acting Secretary of the Treasury, and John D. Sanborn. Also a list of claims, which Sanborn proposed to collect under the first contract.

The defense wished to know what the The defense wished to know what the prosecution would prove by the witness. The Dis rict Attorney replied that they proposed to offer in evidence the contract and the letter of the Secretary of the Treat-ury in relation to it, and would also offer a statement containing a list of the names re-ferred to in the indictment. The defense opposed the offering of the contract for any testimony in regard to it in evidence on the grounds that the section of law under which the defendants were indicted, set forth that revenue officers could only be pushed for conspiracy with an outside person to deftand. He claimed that Sanford had a right to 60 per cent. of the wase collected, no matter by whom, or at what time, if the contract ex-isted. Then he had another objection, and that was that the contract, scheduler estates were not set forth in the indictment, and a copy of the contract should be attached to the indictment, and he claimed that it was a fatal omission in leaving out the contract. fatal omission in leaving out the contract. The counsel argued that the indictment was defective in that the contract schedule or list of catales were not set forth, and held that the syldence was inadmissible in its characteristics.

I have no in-fluence with this adde of the House; I have sought none outside of as polite and as per-sonal conversation as I could make to request some of them to look into my case and give some of them to look into my case and give me what I am entitled to. When it comes to voting on this question I know it will be a difficult matter to get Republicans to vote for a Democrat. I think that for my safety my friends had better be content with a rising vote, for upon this question the Republicans will be stronger in their voices than in their stomachs. If it comes to pulling a Democratic vote out of a Republican by the yeas and nays, I think it would take a cork-screw to draw it out."

Further Results of the Revival.

Last Sabbath was a day of peculiar interest in the First Presbyterian Church. It closed a protracted meeting of forty days' continuance. Sixty or more sermons had been preached, and numerous prayermeetings had been held. Fully sixty persons have the the First Church. Eight were received on Sun-

The pastor, Rev. J. H. Martin, preached a sermon from the text : "Ye are Christ's." While addressed to all believers present, it was specially designed for the benefit of the young converts. The following is an outline of the discourse.

1. Notice what ye once were—sinners, enemies, illens, outcasts. "Ye were without Christ, having no hope, and without God in the world." 2. Conei fer what ye now are—Christians. "Ye are Christ's." Ye are His by purchase, by the quickening power and effectual calling of the Holy Spirit, and by your own free and volu stary act of self-devoteent to Him. You have given yourselves to Christ and are bound by a solemn engagement henceforth to be the Lord's.

The speaker then remarked: Let us see what is involved in this great fact. First, If ye are Christ's you are no longer the Secondly. If ye are Christ's you are sons of the isciples, followers, servants and friends of Jesus citizens of His kingdom, Sis sheen. His soldiers temples of the Holy Ghoet, a royal pries, hood to offer up spir tual sacrifices, witnesses for Chr ist, the light of the world.

Thirdly. If ye are Christ's you are en titled to al the privileges, blessings, comforts, joys, hopes and promises of the gospel. "For all things are yours whether Paul, or Apollos or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come all are yours, and yeare Christ's and Christ is ( lod's."
Fourthly. If ye are Christ's, you are charge, t with all theresponsibilities, obligations, and duties, de-volving on his people. In particular, you are to re-nounce and abstala from all singul affections, des is and practices.

You are to lead a new life of faith, love mayer, self-denial, and obedience. You are to cleave to Christ with steedfast purpose, against the temptations of the world, the fiesh, and the devil. Cleave to Him as Ruth did to Naomi.
